'Murder on the Rerun' by Fred Carmichael

"Takes a different approach to mystery as a ghost tries to find out who murdered her in a witty, sophisticated, yet suspenseful look at the upper crust of Hollywood. The curtain rises to find Jane, Oscar winning screen writer, dead at the bottom of the stairs in a Vermont ski lodge. Her friends and husband are saying she fell. "I was pushed!" she says as her ghost rises. Aided by Kitty, a rather wanton adviser from "up there", Jane is brought ahead to the present, three years after the murder, where the same group is gathered to figure out who killed her. The five suspects join together to keep the possible murder quiet for reasons of their own but their relationship bursts apart with their mutual distrust".
